THE UN AND THE WHO ARE PROMOTING SEX EDUCATION STARTING AT BIRTH!

It is with great concern and some reluctance that we are addressing this subject. Even though we became aware of it a few years ago, their objectives were veiled in technical language. It can no longer be ignored. Even though we are profoundly shocked by the global scope and the detailed approach to hyper- sexualizing young children, we will offer some indisputable facts about these matters.

In the US, we are experiencing a push to familiarize young children with transgenderism by introducing the subject with the help of drag queens. They seem fun and inoffensive but they create confusion in the minds of children and introduce the idea that one can choose their own gender.

But it does not stop there. There are big players involved. The International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF), funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, has been promoting sex education to children for many years. A 2017 sex-ed tool kit enjoins sex educators to consider that : "All people are sexual beings with sexual rights, regardless of their age". It continues: "Sexual rights include…the right to say yes or no to sex; the right to express sexuality, including the right to seek pleasure; the right to enjoy bodily autonomy…" [1]

One must go to the source to find how pervasive sex education has become. In 2010, the World Health Organization (WHO) released a 68-page document: *Standards for Sexuality Education in Europe [2].*The guidelines for educators specify what to teach to specific age groups:

- Children between 0 and 4 years must learn about masturbation and develop an interest in their own and others' bodies
- Children between 4 and 6 years must learn about masturbation and be encouraged to express their sexual needs and wishes
- Children between 6 and 9 years must learn about sexual intercourse, online pornography, having a secret love, and self-stimulation
- Children between 9 and 12 years should have their first sexual experience and learn to use online pornography (cont. p.2)

ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE ARE FROM OUR PRESIDENT, LOUISE ALLARD

AN UPDATE FROM UGANDA

We're back in California after a 3-month stay in Uganda. The bakery is 8-month old and growing. Our bread is in the stores and sells well. Our baker makes beautiful cakes and other pastries, which we are introducing in the stores.

We just equipped the vocational training center with two stainless steel tables, a portable gas stove, and pots and pans. We developed application forms and fliers, and began advertising our training opportunities in churches and on our radio program. There is much interest but few applicants. Most lack the means to carry through even though we negotiate a payment schedule. We know the process to get certification but must wait until the teaching actually begins.

We welcomed our first student who took baking classes in school and now wants to practice her skills. She is working as an apprentice with our baker, in between her regular classes. A course of one month in baking and pastries costs $140. It enables the graduate to obtain an entry-level position in a factory setting or bakery. A 50% scholarship (cont. p. 3).

THE UN AND THE WHO ARE PROMOTING SEX EDUCATION STARTING AT BIRTH!

The guidelines also instruct that:

- Children from 4 to 6 years should consolidate their gender identity and learn about same-sex relationships

This document does not emphasize marriage and associated sexuality. Instead, it focuses on consent, discussing sexual boundaries, contraception, and deciding to engage in sex [3].

A supplemental document titled: International Technical Guidance on Sexual Education [4] published by the United Nations for elementary schools worldwide explains the new Comprehensive Sexuality Education (CSE) materials. One of its aims is to "equip children and young people…to develop respectful social and sexual relationships…"(italics added)

Now we have a better understanding of what is ailing us. There is a global movement originating from the UN and the WHO pushing a sexual agenda aiming at sexualizing children at an early age and normalizing pedophilia and transgenderism. It has infiltrated our schools under the rubric of CSE [5].

The move advocating the decriminalization of all "consensual" sex between adults and minors is advanced by the International Commission of Jurists and two UN agencies. Their report, Consensual Sexual Conduct, Principle 16, states:

"Consensual sexual conduct, irrespective of sexual activity, the sex/gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression of the people involved or their marital status, may not be criminalized under any circumstances…Moreover, sexual conduct involving persons below the domestically prescribed minimum age of consent to sex may be consensual, in fact, if not in law. In this context, the enforcement of criminal law should reflect the rights and capacities of persons under 18 years of age to make decisions about engaging in consensual sexual conduct and their right to be heard in matters concerning them [6]."

The public schools' role in indoctrinating children with this unnatural view of sexuality will in fact serve to groom, encourage, and prepare the children to experience sex with adults more than willing to initiate them into all kinds of aberrant sexual behaviors. The issue of consent is easily dealt with by skilled predators.

Are you doubting that this is already in your child's school? Here's an example out of Maryland: six parents are suing the Montgomery County Board of Education for pushing LGBTQ "pride books" on their children without their consent. This violates a state law and a board policy. The school board decided to no longer follow the law. The new books argue for pride parades and gender transitioning. The complaint includes a book such as "Born Ready: The true story of a boy named Penelope" intended for children age 5-11, shares that girls can choose to be boys, that students are the best 'teacher' on such issues, not parents or other adults [7].

During my recent time in Uganda, my friend complained that her 11 year-old son was forced to view porn at school as required by his teacher. There was cause for alarm in the country because of a push toward homosexuality in schools. Children in Uganda often attend boarding schools. Parents were rightfully concerned about what was being taught. The parliament recently passed a law criminalizing homosexual behaviors between adults and minors.

Previous research by Alfred Kinsey is really at the heart of the promotion of sexual activities involving children. He became a sexual guru of sorts after publishing his books: (cont. p. 3)

There is a global movement originating from the UN and the WHO pushing a sexual agenda aiming at sexualizing children at an early age and normalizing pedophilia and transgenderism. It has infiltrated our schools under the rubric of CSE

The scope and speed of this transformative agenda, is like deja vu. This time, it has captured our educational system instead of our public health apparatus

AN UPDATE FROM UGANDA (cont. from p.1) would help tremendously. Cyprian, ALI-UG Board Member, introduced abstinence education in a high-school in Kibaale. Eight-hundred students attended and are enthusiastic about the program. We have a similar opportunity in Gayaza which Emily and Fr Patrick are pursuing. We faced many obstacles about teaching this program but we are not giving up because it is so needed. We must offer a healthy view of sexuality within the context of marriage. We appreciate your prayers. On Life Matters, Emily educates parents about the need for such a program. Cyprian is also involved in promoting health insurance in the Kibaale region. It needed some revitalization after two years of pandemic but praise God, it is still vibrant with 1500 insured members.

The St Raphael Hospital Project has just completed a ten-year strategic plan which should guide us to accomplish the vision: A 124-bed teaching and referral hospital in western Uganda, starting with the pediatric facilities. We are commissioning an Environmental Impact Assessment before we are allowed to proceed with construction.

We are seeking opportunities to speak in churches and raise interest for our work in Uganda. We are so thankful for your continued support for the St Raphael Hospital Project and the Pregnancy Resource Center.

Sexual Behavior in the Human Male (1948)[8], and Sexual Behavior in the Human Female (1953)[9]. Kinsey sponsored research on children as young as two months [10]. He sought to prove that infants and young children had the capacity to achieve orgasm. His data came from the histories of adult males pedophiles and sex-offenders, some being "technically trained" to recognize the boy's experience [11]. Table 34 of Kinsey's Male Report, lists that a 5 month old had 3 orgasms in an indeterminate time period, while an 11-month child had 10 orgasms in one hour [12]. Kinsey shares six types of children's orgasms from these histories. Four described painful stimuli: "Extreme tension with violent convulsion…gasping, eyes staring…mouth distorted……groaning, sobbing, or more violent cries…masochistic reactions..more or less frenzied movements…extreme trembling, collapse, loss of color, and sometimes fainting of subject, pained or frightened…will fight away from the partner and may make violent attempts to avoid climax, although they derive definite pleasure from the situation [13] (emphasis added). The last comment is typical of pedophiles, always assuming that their victim is enjoying their violent assault.

Kelsey's experiments on children qualify as egregious, harmful, and instances of criminal abuse. Any sexual education program based on his research should absolutely be shunned and discredited. In the WHO document, we recognize the same fallacious source and assumptions: that children are sexual beings from birth while denying Freud's identification of early childhood as a period of latency (from sexual activity). In addition, the documents emphasis on teaching masturbation to young children stems from Kinsey's beliefs that masturbation of children by adults prepares them for adult homosexual relationships [14].

The remedy to such abuse and destruction of children's innocence lies with the parents. Having given life, they are their children's principal educators, and must remain firmly in control of the teaching they receive. They may consult church's writings to equip the youth with moral guidance that will result in well-adjusted adults [15].

Trusting God With Life
June 2023

Alliance for Life International is a faith-based, non-profit educational and charitable human rights organization. We affirm and defend the equal value and dignity of all members of the human family, from their earliest phase of development to their natural end. Our concern for human life also extends to those who lack essential medical care that often results in shortened lifespans. It leads us to cooperate with partners to improve medical care in western Uganda
